Learning Targets:

- I can reflect on my personal successes and challenges from this past school year.
- I can identify different types of data and how we can use this data to paint a picture of quality for my students and their learning.
- I can collaborate with my colleagues to develop an action plan for next year that will integrate our data to continue to grow our culture of quality at Hampton Elementary.

Working in small groups to develop an action plan with the tools and resources we have for a productive next school year.

Enrichment Planning and Staff Collaboration. An overview of extensive ideas and strategies- Mrs. Katie Schiano

Developing a schedule that fits our plan and resources – Mrs. Laura Sorel

- Sharing – Using a Padlet as a teacher tool. Padlet is a great tool to use for collaborative group projects. It is essentially a virtual bulletin board in which collaborators can simultaneously create and organize posts of any content type, for more organized planning and sharing. Common post include, text, documents, images, videos, audio, or links.
- I Ready Math updates and Training – Mike Oneill through zoom 12:30 - 3:30 Systems to Support Staff – This strand shares content on systems that support staff to successfully implement our positive support elements and increase effectiveness.

NON-SCREEN SUMMER ACTIVITIES

INDOORS

- Borrow books from a library
- Write and illustrate a comic or story
- Cook or bake
- Sing and dance to music
- Arts and crafts
- Science experiments
- Board games

As the school year is ending, and the summer is beginning, students will have more time for activities at home.

Many students have access to screens (TV, computers, tablets, phones, etc) at home. While screen time is fun, it should be limited! The CDC recommends less than 2 hours per day of screen time for children older than 5 (and adults too!).

Here is some inspiration for some free, non-screen summer activities!

OUTDOORS

- Sidewalk chalk
- Create an obstacle course
- Nature scavenger hunt
- Go to a playground or park
- Ride bicycles
- Create and race boats
- Stargazing

MODEL

- Be a model by
- putting your phone down during a family meal
 - designating a day as a screen-free day
 - setting a timer for your own screen use

THESE STUDENTS
ARE READY FOR SUMMER!
